Shweta Sinha Deshpande, Ph.D.
Director, SSLA

"The twenty-first century is constantly undergoing unprecedented changes, both technologically and culturally, that is shaping how we view ourselves and our surroundings. Education steers curiosity, and together, they become the means that support individuals and societies to truly engage, comprehend, prosper, and make sense of the world that we live in. The education desired, therefore, is not just of facts and figures but of the capability of critical thinking, communication and collaboration for creative problem-solving at social, professional, and personal levels. SSLA's four-year Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science (Liberal Arts) Honours with Research, and Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science (Liberal Arts) Honours, offers such an education. Our comprehensive inter-, multi-, and trans-disciplinary education brings together deep disciplinary knowledge and transferable skills that promote career advancement and the exercise of leadership. It provides much-needed agility, adaptability, as well as the ability to identify and connect the dots needed to see both, the whole and the parts as they exist in the real world. Our liberal arts education equips young individuals with skillsets to contribute to organizations and communities, and drive into uncharted territories to shape the future as critically conscious global citizens."

The edge SSLA offers!

Symbiosis School for Liberal Arts (SSLA) Pune, a constituent of Symbiosis International (Deemed University), is the first in India to offer a four-year degree Bachelor of Arts (Liberal Arts) Honours and Bachelor of Science (Liberal Arts) Honours degree. With over a decade's experience in bringing innovation to higher education, SSLA adapted the well-established international ideology of liberal arts to the Indian scenario. An uncertain and dynamic future requires vibrant individuals capable of creative problem solving. To facilitate this, the programme at SSLA has a rigorous inter, multi and trans-disciplinary structure, which provides the option of studying subjects from across the academic spectrum. It broadens the scope of individual thought processes and analytical capabilities, while offering opportunities to learn how to work constructively with teams, and absorb 21st century global skills.
