Course Description:

Environmental Awareness is a core subject that is designed with the objective of instilling within students the concept of environmental sustainability, by teaching them the importance of self-reliant lifestyles, and the conservation of natural resources. The activities put forth in this subject aim to make students more interested in and aware of the existing state of the environment, and the methods that can be adopted to improve it. This course sensitizes students towards the concept of sustainability, and uses a fresh outlook and methodology based on individual experience and scientific facts, to pique their interest.

The subject covers a variety of topics. These are:

- First Principles in Ecology
- Today's World and Challenges
- Important Natural Resources and Ecosystems
- Landscape Ecological Planning and Ecological Restoration
- Important Streams in Environmental Movements in India
- Sustainable Enjoyment
