Course Description:

In this course, students are expected to read and write a lot, as well as interact a lot with language and space. The students are expected to explore their interests and goals, and express them through their work.

The main objective is to identify oneself, body, language values, love, boundaries, and larger concerns of the world that we live in, through writing. The aim of the course is for the students to develop and express their own voices and to enable them to trust their own choices. It aims at practicing out-of-the box thinking and increasing attention span. It focuses on recognizing value in difficulty, loneliness and change. Apart from this, it also focuses on estimating and cultivating awareness of the students' own creative process and decision-making choices.

This unique course structure includes debates, reading, sharing projects/assignments, creative discussions, weekly writing prompts, and presentations.
