Course Description:

The interdisciplinary Peace & Conflict Studies minor is designed to explore the nature and dynamics of conflicts, violence, and social injustice; and critically examine conditions that foster social justice and peacebuilding. Drawing from the arts, humanities, sciences, law, education and business, students will study violence and conflict (interpersonal, intergroup, and interstate), social justice, human rights, ecological integrity, gender inequity, urbanization, and peace from multiple perspectives. Through a structured interdisciplinary program this minor will prepare students for graduate study and a wide variety of careers in policy analysis, government, non-governmental organizations, journalism, teaching, law and business.
